Housing Resources

As you're looking into housing options, I wanted to share a couple attachments that explain apartment styles (both university housing and off-campus housing), commuting to campus, and neighborhoods around campus. Wondering where students hang out outside of class? We've got you covered!

Also, keep in mind orientation dates as you are securing your living arrangements. During the week of August 8 we will have optional in-person orientation activities, with mandatory orientation events happening the week of August 15. Additional information below.

Sincerely,

Amber Glynn

Mark Your Calendar

June 1: Start accessing the Career Management Foundations course. Review checklist for more details.

Early June: "Get Ready for Gies" Virtual Event Series begins and will help orient you to campus life in a fun and informative way. More details to come.

Week of August 8: One-week optional in-person orientation activities. This will be a great opportunity to get to know your cohort! We will also have a registration info session this week where you can learn all about your classes and what to register for. More information to come. Make sure to look into housing now to ensure move in before this date.

Week of August 15: One-week in-person mandatory orientation begins. It is expected that all MSBA students arrive by August 15 in order to attend.

August 22: First day of classes
